tips for students with disabilities

1

Get involved: You will make great friends, feel part of the college community, and it will be good for your future career.

2

Talk to everyone: To find the best way to get involved, talk to other students in your college.

3

Try something new: With loads of clubs and societies to choose from, don't be afraid to try something new. If it doesn't work out, try another one.

4

Advocate for yourself: If you have support needs, identify what they are, and ask will your needs be supported.

5

Get the Balance Right: Make sure to balance your social involvement with your academic requirements.
